CHAPEL AT TLAQUEPAQUE

Looking through the intricately wrought iron gates, it is easy to be transported to another place in time. Built over 50 years ago by Tlaquepaque's visionary founder Abe Miller, this private non-denominational chapel is an oasis of serenity. Exchange your vows in the presence of your closest family and friends in this romantic, otherworldly setting. The antique doors, whitewashed adobe walls, hand-carved leather and wood pews, stained glass windows and mural altar, make this the perfect location for a truly intimate wedding.

As a celebration of your special day, our chapel bells will ring out in commemoration over the village at the completion of your ceremony.
